

Table of Contents

8.3. Configuration

Enterprise Edition

This section describes how to enable and disable authentication and authorization in Neo4j.

Authentication and authorization is enabled by default. It is possible to turn off all authentication and authorization. This is done using the setting `dbms.security.auth_enabled`.

```
dbms.security.auth_enabled=false
```

This configuration makes the database vulnerable to malicious activities. Disabling authentication and authorization is not recommended.